The restaurant offers a mixed experience, with some patrons enjoying their meals and the atmosphere while others were left disappointed. The Seafood platter for two received mixed reviews, with some finding the quality of ingredients good, but others feeling that more variety was needed for the price. Some diners were underwhelmed by the limited weekend menu and bland specials, while others praised the excellent food, portion sizes, and desserts. The personal touch from the owner and diverse menu options were highlighted as positives. Overall, the beautiful environment and excellent service were mentioned by most reviewers, but discrepancies between the online menu and the actual menu were a point of contention. Despite some mixed feedback, the restaurant was generally recommended for a nice meal with good wine.
