The Clink Restaurant at HMP Brixton opened in February 2014 as the third restaurant operated by The Clink Charity in the UK. It offers full-time work to up to 30 prisoners in the restaurant and kitchen, where they train towards gaining nationally recognised City Guilds NVQs. The charitable project is dedicated to reducing reoffending rates, promoting the rehabilitation and reintegration of prisoners, and helping graduates find employment within the catering and hospitality industry upon their release. The restaurant also showcases the wealth of quality, fresh, and organic produce available throughout the UK, with many vegetables and herbs being sourced from the prison gardens.
