The Red Pepper Café presents a mixed bag of experiences for patrons. Diners have praised the freshly cooked breakfast and friendly staff, emphasizing the quick service and delicious food, particularly the burgers and tea. However, several reviews reflected significant concerns about hygiene, service speed, and food quality, with complaints about cold items and poorly prepared dishes. Although some appreciated the café's proximity to transport links, others found the ambiance unwelcoming, with dirty tables and inattentive staff. Overall, while the café has potential, consistency in service and food quality appears to be an ongoing challenge.
