Nestled alongside the Coventry Canal, this pub offers a unique blend of charm and culinary experiences, though opinions vary significantly. Diners have enjoyed cosy outdoor cabins with heaters, friendly service, and a picturesque setting. Many praised the delicious meals, particularly the triple T burger and decadent desserts, complemented by a lively atmosphere. However, some patrons lamented the inconsistent service, underwhelming food quality, and dreary decor at times. While some found it a hidden gem worth revisiting, others suggested seeking alternatives for better value and experience. Overall, this pub has the potential to charm but may need to address several operational shortcomings.
